MANY WITNESSES IN HOOVER CASE

Liquor License Hearing Continues Several Days in Adams County Court. Remonstrators Produce Large Number of Witnesses.

Continuing ever since Friday morning the Hoover liquor license case has been occupying the attention of Adams County Court and providing entertainment for a large number of spectators and participants. No decision had been reached at the time of going to press and indications were that the case would have to be continued until Monday.

D. P. McPherson and John D. Keith, the attorneys representing the remonstrators, occupied all of the time Friday afternoon and this morning, producing a large number of witnesses and hearing their testimony. William Hersh represents Mr. Hoover and the original, testimony and cross examination were of great interest to the large audiences which gathered for the case.

Those objecting to the granting of the license at the Elk Horn hotel at Bendersville had on hand an array of witnesses to show that Mr. Hoover had sold beer and liquor to young men under age, that he had sold to men of known intemperate habits and that his reputation was not the most desirable. The hearing of these witnesses kept up an interesting case Friday afternoon until about 3.45 when many of the Bendersville and Menallen township residents desired to leave so that they could go home over the Reading at four o'clock.

One by one they appeared to ask permission to go, giving various excuses from having to care for stock to the care of little children. A large number of women had been summoned as witnesses and they were specially anxious to return. With these earnest pleas, and everyone watching the clock, confusion resulted and it was finally decided to adjourn until this morning when the case was resumed. Many of the women present on Friday had been summoned by the defense but they were all excused without their testimony being heard.

During the hearing of the case there has been reference to the affair on the night of May 30th last when Mr. Hoover is said to have been attacked on the road between Bendersville and Mount Holly. Some of the participants and witnesses in that case are taking part in the present trial and one of them, Blaine Murteroff, now less than nineteen years old testified to having been treated over the Hoover bar more than a year ago.

Another fact brought out at the hearing of the case was the presence of Mrs. Hoover behind the bar and some of the witnesses told of having had her serve them the drinks ordered.

The hearing has been followed keenly over the town and in many parts of the county, inquiries as to the progress of the litigation being frequent and more than usual interest being manifested in the probable outcome of the case.

Fatally Injured in Performing Heroic Act.

Frank Bockes, 22 years old, son of Dennis Bockes, near Garrett, died on Friday morning from a fractured skull following a heroic act. He was employed as a section hand on the Western Maryland railway, near Garrett, and had a plank across the track over which he was using a wheelbarrow. A train did not whistle warning in sufficient time for him to remove the plank and fearing the train might be wrecked by the obstruction he tried to pull it from the rails, but the train struck the plank, hurling it against Bockes' head. Bockes was married and leaves one child.

WOULD RESTORE PINE GROVE PARK

Famous Old Summer Resort on the Mountain Likely to be Restored to Former Attractive Condition. State and Railroad Interested.

That the famous old park at Pine Grove Furnace is to be raised from its ruins and will again be made one of the most noted of all summer resorts of the East is the unofficial announcement made in railroad circles of the Cumberland Valley and actions the past several weeks on the part of officials of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company add to this belief.

Since the state has decided to take over several thousand acres of land in the vicinity of Pine Grove Furnace, Hunters Run, Toland and Laurel, railroad officials have been making numerous trips to this once noted mountain spot sheltered with stately pines. Corps of engineers have made surveys of the land occupied by the park and one of the engineers stated that the park only was being included and that a number of maps are being made of the site.

Other railroads expressed the belief that the Reading company will soon construct a modern park, erect a large number of spacious and modern buildings, with a summer hotel, rebuild the dam, which will create power for operating a lighting plant, merry-go-round and other amusements, and also serve as a place for boating and bathing, and put the property wholly in an inviting condition.

An entirely new track has been laid from Hunters Run to Pine Grove Furnace, the terminal of the former Hunters Run and Slate Belt line, and complete passenger trains are run to and from that place daily. The park has not been in use for at least ten years and has fallen into decay. In its day it was an attraction for people from Philadelphia, New York, Baltimore, Washington and other cities. Through it runs one of the most beautiful trout streams in the country.

THREATENS WAR ON BULGARIANS

Rumania Demands Extension of Territory.

SITUATION IS GRAVE AGAIN

Delivers Ultimatum to Sofia and Demands an Answer Within Forty-eight Hours.

London, Jan. 11.—The dispute over the Balkan peace terms took a decidedly grave turn, when Rumania threw a new firebrand into the smoldering embers of the war by practically delivering an ultimatum to Bulgaria.

According to a dispatch from Sofia, the Rumanian capital, Rumania demands the cession of Sillistria and the territory to the north of a line stretching from there to Kavarua, on the Black sea.

To enforce these demands Rumania decided to mobilize her army if she does not obtain within forty-eight hours satisfaction from Bulgaria in regard to the rectification of her frontier, according to a dispatch from Bucharest to the Paris Times.

This new development, following hard upon Turkey's threat to recall her peace envoys unless the allies modify their conditions, has changed the hope of an early peace into gloomy foreboding.

The meeting of the ambassadors of the powers to discuss the Balkan situation ended without any definite results. They discussed the deadlock of the peace conference and conferred as to possible solutions for two hours, after which they decided to refer the points raised to their respective governments. They will meet again on Monday.

Orders are expected from the Russian war minister, retaining with the colors all time-expired soldiers in the army who, under ordinary conditions, should have been dismissed to the reserve two months ago. They will probably be retained until April 14.

It is understood that the failure of the attempt to arrange a joint Austro-Rumanian demobilization has forced Russia to remain prepared for eventualities. Nevertheless, the tone of diplomatic circles indicates marked optimism. Reports from Warsaw tell of Russian orders for the completion of the fortifications and of Russian army officers who are sending their valuables to places of safety.

A Constantinople dispatch says the European ambassadors there succeeded in drawing up a colorless note that will probably be presented on Monday to the Turkish government. The document guardedly advises Turkey to yield on the question of Adrianople, but no suggestion is made of pressure being brought to bear by the powers to insure the acceptance of this advice.

According to information received from Bucharest, the Rumanian government has decided on immediate armed occupation of the northeastern corner of Bulgaria.

In some quarters it is thought that the announcement, made as it is at a critical moment of the peace negotiations, is not intended seriously, but is designed to bluff Bulgaria into giving way.

The losses of the Greek troops fighting against the Turks in the vicinity of Janina have been very heavy. To date they have lost no fewer than 7000 killed and wounded, according to Salonika advices. The sixth division of the Greek army left there under orders to assist in the subjection of the Turkish fortress of Janina.

250 MEXICANS KILLED

Rebels Leave Hills Near Capital After Battle.

Mexico City, Jan. 11.—The rebels have disappeared from the hills about the town of Ayotzingo, twenty-five miles from here, where Thursday's battle took place. They left during the night on the arrival of the federal reinforcements with field and machine guns.

More than 250 men were killed, counting federals, rebels and non-combatants, according to a reliable estimate.

Furthermore, a force of 200 infantrymen from Mexico City is said to have been cut to pieces and a similar fate is reported to have befallen a column of 100 mounted police.

Uncompromising.
John Bright's voice was unequivocally for peace. Says the London Nation: He was walking once past the Crimean monument in London with one of his sons, then a lad. Every one knows that the word "Crimean" is engraved on the monument. The boy pointed to the monument and to the word upon it and asked:
"Father, what is that?"
"That," said John Bright, pointing also to the word, "is a crime."

STARTLING FIGURES IN COST OF LIVING PROBE

Only Two Articles of Food Did Not Advance in Price.

Washington, Jan. 11.—A congressional investigation into the cost of living in the United States today learned that only two articles of food did not advance in price.

It is alleged that the two judges appointed three receivers for the Kansas Natural Gas company—a pipe line—who were "friendly to the interests, designs and purpose" of that company and the United Gas Improvement company, of Philadelphia, which controlled it.

A demand for an investigation, accompanied by resolutions from the common council of Kansas City, Mo., alleged that after the receivers had been appointed Judge Pollock made an order directing them to charge an increased rate for gas sold through the Kansas City Gas company.

Report Will Determine Whether or Not He Will Be Required to Testify Before Money Trust Probers.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Dr. Charles W. Richardson, an expert ear, eye, nose and throat specialist, of Washington, is on his way to Miami, Fla., to examine William Rockefeller for the Pujo committee. Dr. Richardson will meet Mr. Rockefeller upon his return from the Bahamas.

Chairman Pujo, of the money trust committee, announced that a specialist had been sent to see Mr. Rockefeller, but would not give the name of the physician or the name of the meeting place.

The report of Dr. Richardson will determine whether or not Mr. Rockefeller will be required to testify before the "money trust" committee.

It is said by Mr. Rockefeller's friends that his life will be endangered by a stage before the Pujo committee. Mr. Pujo, in order to get an expert opinion, sent Dr. Richardson to examine Mr. Rockefeller's throat.

Mr. Pujo declined to make public his plans for intercepting Mr. Rockefeller. Mr. Pujo said:

"Mr. Rockefeller will be examined by representatives of the committee on American territory. Further than that I can say nothing at this time. To make public our plans might defeat our purposes."

The amendment was defeated by a vote of 239 to 190. Tumult prevailed while the vote was being taken, and announcement of the result was greeted with cries of "Saved by the Irish!" The Irish Nationalists joined with the Liberals in voting down the amendment.

The disorder prevailed for some time and was quieted only when the speaker threatened to adjourn the session unless the opposition subsided.

BANKER TELLS OF VAST RESOURCES

His Bank Has $47,000,000
For Investment.

QUIZZED ON MORGAN'S POWER

Admits His Friend Was a Great General in Panic and He and Stillman Chief Lieutenants.

Washington, Jan. 11.—The millions which the First National Bank of New York has available for investment were disclosed in testimony by George F. Baker, chairman of the bank's board, before the house "money trust" investigating committee.
Mr. Baker, popularly referred to as "the biggest man in Wall street," testified that the bank had $74,000,000 available for investment, of which $31,000,000 was out in demand loans and $25,000,000 in time loans and discounts. The bank holds $43,466,000 in securities and has gross deposits of about $110,000,000.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, led Mr. Baker through a line of questioning which was intended to bring out his close relations with the railroads in the anthracite fields, usually referred to as the "hard coal trust," without developing more than was already known.

The stock of the First National bank was increased from $500,000 to $10,000,000 in 1901, Mr. Baker said, and 40 per cent of the increased stock went to individuals and the remainder to the bank's stockholders.

"Who were those individuals?" asked
Mr. Untermyer.

After an argument with Mr. Baker and his counsel, Mr. Baker answered:
"Forty thousand shares of that stock at $300 a share were sold to me," said he, "and I later disposed of it where it would do the most good."

"What is the present price of the stock?" "About $1000 a share,"
Mr. Untermyer asked whether J. P.
Morgan held $15,000,000 worth of stock in the First National. Mr. Baker said he did not want to discuss the "personal affairs of his friends or himself."

"Is Mr. Morgan recognized as the great general in this financial army?"
"That's according to who you ask. We, his friends, think he is."

"He's generally so recognized?"
"Well, yes."

"And you and James Stillman are his chief lieutenants?" "We were during the panic."

"And you three dominate the financial situation?" "I won't confess to that."

Here John C. Spooner, counsel for Baker, interrupted with a laugh: "He isn't required to incriminate himself, is he?"

"Is Mr. Morgan the most dominant figure in the financial world?" persisted Untermyer. "He would be if he were younger. I know of no one who is more dominant," replied Baker.

"There is no dominant figure in finance now," exclaimed Baker. "There was during the panic, but not since the disturbance."

Untermyer endeavored to trace the relations of Baker's bank and the Morgan firm.

"Can you give us the name of any issue of security of stock for which you have competed with Morgan & Co. in the past five years?" "No. We usually divide the issues."

"Can you recall any single transaction of $10,000,000 or more during the last five years that has not involved either Morgan & Co. or the First National bank?" Baker could not recall.

"This is the scheme of modern combination and co-operation as against the archaic principle of competition, isn't it?" "Well, yes; if you put it in that elaborate way."

In a discussion of the existence of a "money trust," Baker admitted that the present concentration of credit, through the purchase of stock in banks by J. P. Morgan and himself had "gone about far enough." "It might not be dangerous if it went further, but if the control fell into the hands of bad men it might be very dangerous," said Mr.
Baker.

"It would wreck the country, would it?" "I guess it would."

Mr. Baker declared that he had never become a voting trustee or director in a corporation at his own solicitation.

Mr. Baker made this assertion, he explained, because Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, had
"made me out to be such a director."

"How many corporations are you interested in as a voting trustee or director?" asked Untermyer.

"Too many," replied Baker. He added that there were forty-eight corporations in which he, or directors of the First National bank, which he controls, served as directors or trustees. In thirty-seven corporations he or a member of his company is jointly interested in.

Two Women Break Jail.

kets, two women prisoners, during a

USES HATPIN ON ASSAILANT

Girl Pierces His Arm When Attacked in Forest.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 11.—While Rebecca and Pearl Boyd, daughters of Foreman John Boyd, of Wadesville, were on their way home from St.
Clair, where they had visited friends, they were followed through the intervening forest by a man.

At a dark spot near Armut Addition he quickened his footsteps and, overtaking them, struck Pearl a blow on the head, which rendered her unconscious.

He then attacked Rebecca, but she pulled a stout hatpin and pierced her assailant through the arm. With a cry of rage he disappeared in the adjoining woods.

An hour later Frank Lawrence and Frank C. Ratost, both suspects, were arrested and sent to jail by Justice Buffy.

It will be plainly severe, bearing the word "Liberty" and the date of coinage on one side, instead of a female Liberty head.

The word "Five Cents" will appear instead of the laurel wreath and letter
"V," as at present. The coin will bear the words "E Pluribus Unum," but not the motto "In God We Trust."

CONGRESS TO PROBE FEDERAL JUDGES

Two Charged With Favoring Gas Company.

Washington, Jan. 11.—Soaring prices of foodstuffs are pictured in a new set of figures compiled by the United States department of labor from its investigation of the cost of living in thirty-nine American cities.

Between August, 1911, and August, 1912, only two things decreased in price—potatoes and sugar. Meanwhile everything else advanced.

In Boston, sirloin steak had advanced 24 per cent; in Buffalo, 19 per cent; in Atlanta, 19 per cent; in Chicago, 19 per cent, and in Birmingham, 15 per cent.

But the figures showing the advance in prices during the last ten years give the following increases:

Sugar, 6 per cent; butter, 34; milk, 35; flour, 35; potatoes, 46; eggs, 47;
lard, 57; hens, 59; sirloin steak, 62;
ham, 63; rib roast, 63; cornmeal, 64;
round steak, 86; smoked bacon, 100;
and pork chops, 105.

Within the thirty-nine cities the department investigated live one-fifth of the total population of the United States; two-fifths of the urban population, and approximately one-third of all the people engaged in gainful occupations, not including farmers.

SALARIES FOR STATE GUARD

Pennsylvania Association Urges Passage of Bill.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 11.—The Pennsylvania National Guard association adopted resolutions urging the passage of the bill in congress which allows salaries to men and officers in the national guard based on the pay in the United States army.

This bill passed the house, but was found defective in the senate and the corrected measure is to be urged in the next congress.

Two Reported Lost at Sea.

Atlantic City, N. J., Jan. 11.—Private dispatches to Mrs. Ida Winder, of 628 Mediterranean avenue, bring the report that Captain Edwin H. Berke and John Winder, the latter colored, were washed overboard from a fishing smack and drowned. The report came from New York, doubtless brought in by some vessel or by wireless.

French Soldiers Killed.

Paris, Jan. 11.—Twelve French soldiers were killed and sixty wounded in a fight with natives near Mogador, Morocco. News of the battle was received by the war office from General Lyautley, governor general of French Morocco. Tribesmen attacked a French patrol force.

Annual Pre-Inventory Reduction and Rummage Sale

Instead of a three days sale as we have sometimes held at this season—we believe that it will be much more satisfactory to our customers in service, if we allow them to take more time to their purchases. We have, therefore, re-marked much of our Winter stock to quick closing prices. Cost not a consideration—Stock must be greatly reduced before inventory to make room as well as secure cash for our Spring stock soon to come in. This sale will continue while these bargain goods last—The early purchaser has best selection.

In addition to goods here advertised, there will be found Odds and Ends—that we have not space here to mention—of little lots at very low prices. Come and look the stock over.

MEETING A GHOST

Old Tom Came Face to Face With It Between Decks.

SCARED THE SAILOR STIFF.

Then When He Got Wind Enough to Yell There Was a Lively Time
Aboard the Old Sailing Vessel Till a Mate Ended the Mystery.

Of course there is no reason why ghosts should not be found on shipboard as often as elsewhere. As a matter of fact, Jack, who is always superstitious, sees his full share of apparitions. This amusing story, told by the ghost himself, is found in Captain John D. Whidden's "Ocean Life in the Old Sailing Days."

Whidden, a boy of thirteen, was making his first voyage. The ship was hardly clear of land when a heavy storm set in. Whidden was feeling wretched and in carrying breakfast to the forecastle upset a pan of hot scouse on the head of "old Tom" at the foot of the companionway stairs. The cutting he had for this did not make him feel any better. An hour or two later, when the men were sent aloft, the boy slipped down the booby hatch and was soon fast asleep among some rope, canvas and oakum that were piled against the forward bulkhead next the forecastle.

When he awoke it was dark, but light streaming through some auger holes in the bulkhead and the sound of voices brought him to his senses. He was surprised to hear the crew talking about him, as if he were dead, and discussing the manner in which he had been swept overboard. He heard old Tom say, "Well, I'm sorry I hit him, but the cub scalded every spear of hair out of my head."

He had another long sleep. When he awoke he heard the crew washing down decks and realized that he was perfectly well and very hungry. He found a barrel of apples in the lower hold, filled his pocket and shirt bosom, climbed back into his nest, ate apples and went to sleep again.

The next day old Tom was sent below to cut a piece of rope from the coils among which Whidden was hiding. While he was sawing at the rope, the boy, disturbed by the noise, peeped out of the coil of hawser in which he lay and met Tom's glance.

"With whitened face and bulging eyes," says Mr. Whidden, "he gazed at me a moment, then dropping rope and knife and emitting a series of blood curdling yells he dashed for the booby hatch and disappeared on deck. Every one was aroused. I heard the second mate ask, 'What's broke loose with you?' and all old Tom could ejaculate was, 'I've seen him! I've seen him!'"

"Seen who?" yelled Mr. Fabens.

"Oh, the boy's ghost! the boy's ghost!" Old Tom was nearly frightened out of his wits.

"Mr. Fabens," said the captain, "get a lantern, take that fellow below and see what scared him."

"So Mr. Fabens descended the ladder with half the crew at his back, and old Tom bringing up the rear. As they came forward the mate called out, 'Where's your ghost? I don't see any ghost!'"

"Until now I had lain quiet, but feeling that I was discovered I rose up to step out of the coil. Tom gave another yell and broke for the hatch ladder, followed by half the men."

"Mr. Fabens came up, reached over, lifted me out by the collar and marched me on deck, where I was at once surrounded by officers and crew."

"Captain King stepped forward and said, 'Well, boy, where have you been for the last forty-eight hours?'"

"Between decks, sir," I sheepishly answered.

"What have you been doing between decks?"

"Sleeping, sir."

"What, sleeping two days and nights?"

"Not all the time, sir," I replied.

"Had anything to eat?"

"Apples," I ventured.

"Where did you get the apples?"

"Out of the hold, sir. I got the head out of a barrel."

"Oh, you did! Do you know you've been broaching cargo?" and then, thinking the farce had gone far enough, for all hands were on the broad grin, he said, sternly:

"Now go forward, boy, and if you cut a rope's ending you'll remember all your life." Then, to Mr. Fabens, he added, "Keep him up in his day watch below for a week and give him plenty of work."

"That ended his lecture, and I was glad it was over and that I had escaped so easily. Going forward with the men, I was pleased to see they bore me no ill feeling, not even Tom, although he might have been excused if he had done so."

HUMOR OF THE DAY

The Difference.

Pronunciation you will find
In Boston very clean.
It takes a Harvard graduate To say, "Yes, I have been."

But travel on a trolley car
Some miles—say nine or ten—You'll hear the old style country folk
Who say, "I guess I ben."

Extend your journey to New York,
And there amidst the din
And hustle you should cut it short
To answer, "Yep, I bin."

And when at home you ask the maid
If to the plumber man
She went about that leaky pipe
She hands you, "Ja, Ay ban."
—Lippincott's Magazine.

The Language of Aquatics.
A Frenchwoman, proud of her limited knowledge of English, and an American woman, proud of her limited knowledge of French, were introduced at an uptown evening company. The Frenchwoman insisted on expressing herself in bad English, and the American would talk nothing but bad French. When the guests began to depart they were still at it. At last they arose to go. Here is their watery farewell: "Reservoir," said the fair American. "Tanks," responded her new friend.—Philadelphia Times.

Rice Stealing Coolies.
Among Chinese coolies a favored method of stealing rice is to lean up against a pile of sacks and stick a tin tube through the sacking, the rice, which is dry, flowing naturally through the tube into the coolie's clothing. Flour is also stolen in this manner, and a common punishment in this case is to let the thief obtain a large quantity and then pour water into his clothing which makes matters rather uncomfortable for the culprit.

The Obstinate Cook.
Father—Cooking schools are of some use after all. This cake is delicious. Daughter—Is it? I thought it would be a terrible failure. Father—Why? Daughter—I told the cook exactly how to make it, and she went and made it some other way.

NATIONAL BODY HEARS OF PLANS

Water Storage Discussed at Fourth Conservation
Congress

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 9.—The movement now under way in Pennsylvania to secure the fullest use of the state's water resources was one of the principal topics under discussion at the Fourth National Conservation congress held here recently. The matter was brought to the attention of the congress by George M. Lehman engineer-in-charge of the Flood Commission of Pittsburgh.

Mr. Lehman represented the city of Pittsburgh, the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, the University of Pittsburgh and by the Flood Commission at the congress and read a paper on "The Investigations of the Flood Commission."

In his paper Mr. Lehman said: "Concerning water power, it should be mentioned that a new association has recently been formed in Pennsylvania, called the Water Utilization association. A movement toward developing water opportunities has recently become very active and it is the purpose of this association to see that proper legislation is provided which will consider the fullest regulation of streams, not only for the welfare of the general public, but also for private capital."

Fishes and Lightning.
A peculiar sensitiveness to lightning has been noted in fishes. In several cases trout and other fishes in tanks and pools have died from the effects of lightning, which, however, was a considerable distance away.

The Thief's Plea.
Magistrate—You are found guilty of knocking down the plaintiff and robbing him of everything except a gold watch. What have you to say?
Prisoner—Had he a gold watch?
Magistrate—Certainly.
Prisoner—Then I put in a plea of insanity.

Learned His Lesson.
"You say you have quit smoking?"
"Yep. Never going to smoke again."
"Then why don't you throw away those cigars?"

"Never! I threw away a box of good cigars the last time I quit smoking, and it taught me a lesson."—Houston Post.

Making Sure.
"Johnnie!"
"Yes'm?"
"Why are you sitting on that boy's face?"

"Why, I—"
"Did I not tell you to always count a hundred before you gave way to passion and struck another boy?"
"Yes'm, and I'm doin' it; I'm just sittin' on his face so he'll be here when I'm done countin' the hundred."—Houston Post.

Human Nature.
"Why is it," asked the curious guest, "that poor men usually give larger tips than rich men?"
"Well, suh," said the waiter, who was something of a philosopher as well, "looks to me like de po' man don't want nobody to find out he's po' and de rich man don't want nobody to find out he's rich."—Youth's Companion.
